

Mr. Pope was also numbered amongst early Utah pioneers. He was born in Nauvoo, Ill. August 19, upon the same day of the month as his wife, but three years earlier, or in 1846. His parents shared all the perils surrounding the Saints prior to the Prophet Joseph, and also in their expulsion. Like the Brower family, they arrive in Utah in 1852, and also settled in Grantsville, where Mr. Pope lived until he was 19 years of age. When 18, he gained his first view of Cache Valley, walking here with a pack on his back hunting for work.

Mr. and Mrs. Pope were united in marriage at the Endowment House in Salt Lake by Apostle George Q. Cannon on April 1, 1865, and a month later settle in Richmond Cache Co. where they lived for sixteen years, then moved to Lewiston. For many years in the pioneering stage of this valley's history, their worldly lot was indeed a hard one, lightened thought by love and faith. Their introduction to Lewiston was one bitter experience, their crops failing for three successive years and they then had to move back to Richmond, where Mr. Pope had to toil hard in the mountains for three years to supply his family of six and enough to make a new start in Lewiston, where they lived continuously until Mrs. Pope's death, and where Mr. Pope still resides.
